

THE LONDON SCHOOL
OF ECONOMICS AND
POLITICAL SCIENCE

University of Essex

Department of Methodology, LSE
Government Department, Essex

Call for papers

PolMeth Europe 2025

7-8 April 2025

LSE, London, UK (co-hosted with University of Essex)

Please submit your abstract and join us in London for the 4th European PolMeth meeting.

PolMeth Europe brings together junior and senior scholars interested in innovative research methods and their applications. We welcome proposals that focus on methodological contributions as well as work that applies cutting-edge empirical methods to research questions from all subfields. We particularly encourage submissions from underrepresented groups.

To apply, please submit your abstract (max. 250 words) by November 30th 2024 here. All submissions will be considered for paper presentations. We also welcome submissions for poster presentations, which will be exhibited during lunch.

If you have any questions, please contact the local organizers at t.robinson7@lse.ac.uk and nelson.ruiz@essex.ac.uk.

Organizing committee: Nelson Ruiz (Essex), Thomas Robinson (LSE)

Selection committee: Sergio Ascenscio (Essex), Nicole Baerg (Essex), Allyson Benton (Essex), Mariaelisa Epifanio (Essex), Ryan Hubert (LSE), Dan de Kadt (LSE), Prabin Kadhka (Essex), Akitaka Matsuo (Essex), Carl Mueller-Crepon (LSE), Melissa Sands (LSE), Aliz Tóth (LSE)

PhD students: Christy Coulson (LSE), Fareeda Khalifa (Essex), Tiffany Lau (LSE), and Lorenzo Vicari (LSE)

For more information about this event, visit polmeth-europe.eu